THE JUNIORS

The Juniors

From the starting point the enterprising nature of the Junior Class has been shown by the help its masculine portion has given in reaping victories along the lines of football, basketball, tennis and track work. In addition to its capacity for furnishing worthy combatants, an enterprise along a still different line appeared even in the Freshman year of this class in an innovation known as the "Butler French Club," which, however, met with an early death, due chiefly to the fact that the majority of its members left Butler to enter fields of Pedagogy.

The girls of the class have been particularly active in various phases of Y. W. work, from dressing dolls for the Christmas settlement children to enforcing attendance at mission study classes.

The climax of the social life of Butler for the year 1912-13 was reached in the Junior Prom, held at Woodruff Place Club House on the evening of February second. The grand march was led by President Ed Lewis and Vice-President Marie Peacock.

If the early career of the class in various strifes was a foreshadowing of what it was to meet in its Junior year, the struggle for maintaining the old custom of editing a year book was that for which that preparatory course was intended. In the face of much opposition, the persistent efforts of the Drift staff on behalf of the class succeeded in producing the Drift, modified somewhat in form from those of former years, at the suggestion of the Faculty. However, it maintains the custom that the Juniors have adhered to for years back, of assuming the responsibility of editing a Year Book for Butler.

The officers of the class of 1914 are: President Ed. Lewis; Vice-President, Marie Peacock; Secretary, Mable M. Felt; Treasurer, Robert Buck.

THE SOPHOMORES

The Sophomores

From those Olympic heights to which they have ascended in the brief space of one year the class of 1915 upholds the lofty reputation which they won so speedily. A year ago their great success in all student activities was termed but the precocity of infants. Now the fairly won laurels decorate their humble brows.

As Freshmen they both conformed to, and broke down the trammels of custom. They conformed with the usual non-resultant class election. They upset the custom of years by handily beating the Sophomores in the annual football scrap.

This meteoric success has been continued. All precedents were overthrown by the institution of the Sophomore Hop which proved the chief social event of the year. Football, basketball, debating, oratory, have alike brought honor to the class.

May this progress upward and upward be continued until the class of 1915, to its last member, has reached the zenith of its college career,—a sheepskin.

COLLEGIAN STAFF

The Butler Collegian

The Butler Collegian is the so-called official organ of Butler College. Its policy is governed by the editor, subject to the oversight of the faculty.

It was founded in 1886 as a monthly literary magazine and was published by the five literary societies of the college. In 1899 The Collegian became a news weekly as at present, with a monthly literary supplement which has been discontinued. This was a step, according to the editor at that time "toward the final goal of journalism, a daily journal."

This final goal has not yet been reached, although there are those who still hope to see the day when Butler College can issue a daily newspaper.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION CABINET

Young Women's Christian Association

The past year has been the most prosperous in the history of the Butler College Young Women's Christian Association.

The meetings have been unusually interesting and well attended. The meetings each week have been of various kinds—several of musical nature, Bible study, reports of the foreign missionary field, and plans for our Geneva delegates.

The girls have taken a deeper interest in the Christamore Settlement and have taken charge of several classes there. The annual doll show was held before the holidays and the dolls with proceeds derived from the show were presented to the Settlement.

The social side of the Association has not been neglected. In addition to the usual joint reception in the fall, spreads have been held in the Y. W. C. A. rooms at various times.

The Mission Study Class is progressing and has an average attendance of fifty members. This class is under the leadership of Professor C. T. Paul.

Y. M. C. A. CABINET

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. of Butler College has been doing better and more extensive work this year than it has ever done before.

Its cabinet is composed of men noted for their energy and ability, and its work is planned and executed by various strong and efficient committees. It has a membership of 25.

Both the State and City organizations have assisted the Association very materially in securing good speakers. Some of the best known professional and business men in the City have addressed the men at the mid-week meetings upon interesting and inspiring subjects.

The Association has also supplied men for teaching foreign classes, conducting boy's clubs and charitable work.

A gospel team of five men did excellent work at Kirklin, Indiana, during the Christmas holidays.

Upon the broad plane of the interest of its cabinet in the religious welfare of the men of the College, has been erected an organization that attempts to touch each man in his everyday life, and in such a way that he will never forget the spiritual impressions of his College days.

THE PHILOKUREAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Philokurean Literary Society

The Philokurean Literary Society, the second oldest organization in Butler College, was organized in 1870 at the old Northwestern Christian University.

In its conception the Society was exclusively for the benefit of ministerial students and no women were admitted. After several years of prosperous existence the Society was reorganized. Its privileges were extended to other than students preparing for the ministry. During the years of the existence of "Philo" in Butler College, it has been known solely as a literary society, admitting to its membership both men and women.

THE PRESS CLUB

DEBATE AND ORATORY

Debate and Oratory

In Debate and Oratory Butler has had a successful year in spite of the fact that the squad was developed almost entirely out of green material. The great need at Butler is for a continuous debate class which will prepare men for the work on the squad.

Two separate debates were held this year. Earlham College met defeat in the Butler chapel at the hands of an entirely inexperienced team composed of Paul Ward, captain; John Moffat and Bruce Robison. On March 20 a new team, composed of Robert D. Armstrong, captain; Paul Ward and Ralph Arnold journeyed to Albion, Michigan to debate Albion College, well known as the strongest college in Debate in the middle west. Butler lost by a narrow margin, the judges admitting that the Albion men were saved only by their splendid delivery. In both debates Butler upheld the negative of the question: "Resolved that the President of the United States should be elected for a term of six years and should be ineligible for re-election."

In Oratory, Butler was creditably represented by Robert D. Armstrong, who, in spite of lack of experience, secured third place on manuscript.

Next year Earlham will be debated at Richmond; Hillsdale College, a new opponent, will be debated at Hillsdale, Michigan, and Albion will come here. This debate may be in the form of a triangular including Miami University. Practically all of this year's squad will return next year.

Social Life at the College Residence

Festivities at the Residence opened last fall with a general reception given by the members of the Young Women's Christian Association. A very delightful musical program had been arranged and several clever readings were given.

The next event of general interest was the series of afternoons known as Social Assemblies to which all women of the college were invited. These delightful periods were suggested by Miss Katherine Graydon who secured the services of Miss Anna Stanton. The final Assembly was a cotillion. The dining hall and drawing room were thrown together, excellent music was furnished by piano and drums, and cotillion favors were bright colored and attractive, adding much to the beauty of the scene. A huge bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums was presented to Miss Stanton by the members of the Lotus Club, under whose auspices the Social Assemblies were given.

During the following term the Lotus Club gave a matinee dance at the Residence for the college girls. A large attendance, good music, and delicious refreshments made a delightful afternoon.

Two dinner parties have been given at the Residence this year. The first was in observance of the coming holidays at Christmas and the guests included Miss Graydon, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncy Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Kenyon, Mr. and Mrs. Danton, and Mr. and Mrs. Putnam. A turkey was placed at each end of the two long tables and the four gentlemen to whose lot it fell to carve, proved themselves experts, though 'tis whispered that some credit should be given "Vogt" for tender turkeys and "Nathan" for sharp carving knives. The place cards were decorated with holly designs and the tables were beautiful with tall vases of red carnations and flat decorations of asparagus vines and ferns.

The second dinner was given on St. Patrick's Day to celebrate the close of the winter term. Everything possible was in green in honor of old Ireland from the Irish spuds liberally sprinkled with parsley to the green and white ice cream and the frosted cake crowned with mint cherries. The place cards were decorated with small flags of Erin.

Among the most delightful of the many charming hospitalities extended in Irvington on Founder's Day was the luncheon in honor of the visiting mothers of the young ladies who live at the Residence. The dining room, with tables decorated in great clusters of yellow daffodils and lighted by yellow candles set in quaint low holders, suggested a spring day in its bright coloring. Among the guests were: Mrs. Grace Davis of Indianapolis; Mrs. I. N. McCash of Cincinnati; Mrs. T. F. Askren of Cumberland; Mrs. F. L. Smock of Southport; Mrs. T. P. Kinder of Greenfield; Mrs. Ida Boos of Indianapolis, and Mrs. D. O. Thomas of Minneapolis.

During the winter term Miss Butler and the young ladies of the Residence have observed the second Monday of each month as an at home day. A very large number of Indianapolis and Irvington friends took advantage of the opportunity to call on these days. The rooms were always bright and pretty with lights and flowers and one was always sure of a cup of tea among a delightful company of college girls.

The Lotus Club

This is an association whose object is the bringing together socially of the young women in College, thus encouraging friendly intercourse among them. The club is governed by an executive board elected at the end of each year.

Freshmen Poetry

ODE TO A FROG

Oh frog, that sits in a bright tin pan,
Blinking your eyes as only frogs can,
Tell me, I pray, do you dread vivisection—
To be cut up alive for class inspection?

Amphibian of motley hue,
I weep to stick my knife in you;
But froggie dear, I can't relent,
In search of knowledge I am bent.

Sweet "Haustier" (as the Germans say),
Your nerves, your veins I know, versteh,
But what your life is, what makes you—
To that, I own, I've found no clue.

AURORA

The morning gray is creeping o'er
The hazy eastern sky,
The waves are dashing on the shore,
The ships are passing by
As on the ocean's brink I wait,
Till rosy fingered dawn
Is ushered through the opening gate,
Aurora leading on.
Behold! she comes majestic, grand!
Her garments brilliant, gay,
Accompanied by a fairy band,
She brings the perfect day.

THE MAGIC IN JUNE

Lie on the grass where the raveled clouds edges,
Wind-swift, trail surges of shadows along.
Close both your eyes—know the blue's still above you,
Under you, earth, and beside you, a song.
Fill all your soul with the smell of the dusty,
Fragrant, half-stifling breath of the road,
Winding, forgetting itself on the hillside,
Under that summer cloud's cumbrous load.
Lose all your logic, your why and your wherefore—
Can't you forget that your world's out of tune?—
Follow your fancy away on the wind's wings,
Only remember—the magic in June.

Football

The football season of the fall of 1912 was one of the most successful in the history of Butler. The men worked hard and faithfully and deserve great praise for their untiring efforts to bring glory to the White and Blue. Too much credit can not be given to the coach George Cullen Thomas for the showing of the team. He not only taught the men how it was done, but instilled spirit and fight into them.

The early season prospects were excellent and the candidates for positions on the team could be found toiling every afternoon. A large squad of candidates reported and started the grind. Later the number began to dwindle and it was hard to find enough men to get scrimmage practice.

When the first call was sounded old B men who were present were Morgan, Burkhart, Tucker, Paul, Pavey, Badger, Summerlin, Stermont, Lewis, and Mullane. This was the largest number of B men who had returned to school for several years and their spirit was soon instilled into the new men. Every man was for the new coach and upon this spirit the machine which was to fight for Butler was built.

Oct. 5. The first game fulfilled the fondest hopes of any Butlerite when the team came out victorious over Hanover by the score 54 to 0.

Oct. 12. Again the team was victorious and won laurels from the Franklin team with the score of 25 to 0. This game was played at Franklin and was a hard fought victory. The Franklin team played a good game and were in the scrimmage until the last minute. "Pete" Morgan proved the star of the game with his long end runs and successful forward passes.

Oct. 18. The Wabash "Little Giants" proved too much for us at Crawfordsville and we went down to defeat 47 to 0. The men played a hard game and deserved credit in defeat.

Oct. 26. We defeated Earlham 13 to 0. The game was played on Irwin Field. This was the first time that we had defeated Earlham in three years and all Butler went wild. The players fought to a deserved victory. Not one minute could a man be seen out of position or fighting with less than every ounce of strength. The work of "Pete" Morgan was sensational and wonderful. The Earlham men were unable to hold him and he carried the ball for the Butler points.

Nov. 1. Transylvania was defeated by Butler 28 to 0 at Lexington Kentucky on a muddy field. The Transylvania team did not show the expected strength and the victory was easily won.

Nov. 9. Butler defeated Moores Hill 52 to 14 on Irwin Field after a rest following the long trip to Kentucky. The Moores Hill team showed up well at times and succeeded in scoring two touch downs.

Nov. 16. Butler went to Greencastle to meet the DePauw team and was defeated 17 to 3. The Butler men seemed unable to get together in the usual style and the DePauw men carried the ball at will.

Nov. 28. The season closed with a final defeat for us at the hands of the Rose Poly team by the score of 13 to 6. The game was played at Terre Haute. The Butler team at times outplayed their opponents but were unable to win the game.

Sixteen men were awarded sweater coats bearing the official Butler monogram in honor of the work done during the football season. Every man who has the honor of being allowed the coveted insignia must represent Butler in at least six halves in regular games.

BASKETBALL TEAM

Basketball

The start of the season was delayed greatly. The lack of practice early in the season showed its effect and the team work was not much in evidence during the first of the season. With only Captain Silvers and Richardson of last year's regulars left around whom to build a team, the development of three new men was necessary. This, with the late start and a number of accidents proved too great a handicap for the team.

Jan. 12. State Normal defeated Butler in the Butler Gymnasium. Lack of team work caused the defeat of the Butler team although the individual work of the men was good.

Jan. 15. Butler went to Terre Haute and met defeat at the hands of Rose Poly by the score of 31 to 21. Butler guards were unable to cope with the giant forwards of the Rose team.

Jan. 22. Butler was again defeated by Earlham 26 to 23 at Richmond. The Butler team was ahead until the last few minutes of the play but was unable to hold its lead.

Jan. 24. The Earlham team came to Indianapolis and again defeated Butler 27 to 21.

Jan. 28. The first victory of the season was scored when Butler defeated Franklin 21 to 18 on the Franklin floor. The Butler men played furiously through the contest and deserved the victory.

Jan. 31. State Normal defeated Butler at Terre Haute 43 to 33 in a loosely played game. The absence of Paul weakened the Butler team and it could not follow the pace of the Normals.

Feb. 4. The second victory of the season was won by the Butler team when it defeated the Hanover team 26 to 18 at the I. N. G. armory in this city.

Feb. 8. Rose Poly came to the Butler Gymnasium and defeated Butler 19 to 17 in a fast and close game. The game was in doubt until the last minute. The score was tied time after time by Butler but Rose forged ahead in the last minute of play and Butler was defeated.

Feb. 11. Butler went to Crawfordsville and was defeated by Wabash 46 to 15. The Wabash team outclassed the Butler men.

Feb. 21. After a long rest the Butler five scored another victory over Hanover by the score of 26 to 17 at Hanover. The game was well played by both teams.

Feb. 28. The season was closed with a defeat at the hands of Franklin in the local Y. M. C. A. The game was fast and well played by both teams. The contest was close and two overtime periods were necessary to decide the winner. Captain Silvers was the star of the Butler team and played a wonderful game, closing his basketball career at Butler.

The two games scheduled with DePauw were cancelled by the DePauw team because of their lack of adequate playing quarters.

Seven men won their monograms. They were as follows: Captain Xerxes Silvers, Justus Paul, Verl Wise, Charles Good, Arthur Lockhart, Thomas Richardson and Robert Kennington.

IRWIN FIELD

Art Department

A very interesting side of the work of the college that is missed by the majority of Butler students is that of the Art Department. This department is in charge of Miss Myrtle Taylor and is very interesting, for besides the inspiration that comes from the artistic atmosphere of the Studio, there is the social side, which is not neglected. The treats that often follow the class hours are enjoyed by all the members and will be remembered in connection with our art work.

Miss Taylor is well known in art circles and her work has become so well known that the entire January number of "New York Ceramic Studio" was devoted to her work. The work of her students as well as her own has received honorable mention at the National Exhibits at Chicago. Miss Taylor also devotes a part of her time to the decoration and designing of private residences.

A Vest-Pocket Essay on our Much Neglected Chemistry Lab

A chemistry "lab." is a necessary discipline for life. He who can calmly look on while his favorite flask shatters at the critical point of an experiment, can cheerfully burn clothes, fingers and face and patiently manufacture ammonia, cabbage, garlic and rotten egg odors in the long balmy afternoon by the heat of his Bunsen flame while his comrades gleefully disport themselves upon the green, is "some chemist" as Bob Masters would say, and more than that, a martyr who puts the ancients burning at the stake distinctly in the shade. One thoughtful inmate, a descendant of the famous John Gilpin of Londontown, realizing the stress of mind under which his fellow-sufferers labored, and the peculiar temptations incident upon their vocation, did compose for their guidance the following ten commandments.

1. Thou shalt not heat H_2SO_4 from under the hood.
2. Thou shalt not leave the H_2O turned on.
3. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's beakers nor flasks nor the test tubes nor anything that is thy neighbor's.

4. Thou shalt return the reagent bottles to their proper places.
5. Honor the "Prof."
6. Thou shalt not contaminate the contents of thy desk bottles by sticking thy platinum wire in them.
7. Thou shalt wash up every evening.
8. Thou shalt have thy note books in on time.
9. Thou shalt not cut class.
10. Thou shalt not chew.

Having spoken of the mental aspect of the "lab." let us now turn to the physical, which has never met the eyes of some of the students of Butler college. At any hour of the day one may look in with conscious pity at the aproned and white-coated figures, compounding, testing, and weighing mid fumes, the sound of cracking test tubes, the scurrying of foot-steps and the whistling of some heroically cheerful individual. As this generous feeling of pity passes away, one is astounded to recognize Burkhardt yawning as he watches his boiling liquids; Solomon, Glendenning and Parker, a faithful trio; J. McBride fanning around with such speed that Dorothy McLaughlin's flame flickers as in a mighty breeze; Gilpin, Tucker of the eagle eye; Summerlin, our facetious Bob and last of all, one "Puder," sometimes moving, but most often dozing. If perchance curiosity delays you at the stockroom door after a lengthy interval, there may be descried amid the prevailing gloom within, the approaching brightness of Professor Kuebler's hair or the shadowy outline of Mr. Little, while a voice asks your errand. Then as you turn away, devoutly thankful that you are not obliged to wait and wait for apparatus, comes the sprightly tripping fudge-maker Dorothy Hills, needless to say the aforesaid brightness reappears and remains for some time.

Lest you might wonder who is he of the buff jacket, measured tread and more imposing mien than any yet identified, we hasten to introduce Professor Brown, the ogre of this retreat, who if you wait, can tell of ground hogs and formaldehyde, and a memorable foot race in which he once ran, not ingloriously. But if you were to view the verdant freshman in their apartments at the farther end of Burgess Hall or panting seek the pure outside atmosphere, there is a hearty farewell and a solemn warning to you from the advanced "labites" which justifies the axiom that a chemistry "lab." is a necessary discipline for life.
